the coast is clear

The Senior class of 2007 gathers together in front of the estuary view located directly across the street from Seaside High School.

the coast is clear

Growing up in Seaside, the coast has never been a stranger. Often we took the spectacular ocean views for granted; the beach was always right around the corner. Gazing into the waves of the Pacific, many words came to mind: enthralling, spontaneous, and energetic, among others. These words also described the students at Seaside High School. While our student body could look calm and steady one moment, we could be wild and unpredictable the next. Our dear old Seaside High could be easily compared to the ocean: the calm of the halls during classes, tumultuous during passing periods... students trying to fight against the current at lunch and break. There was the pounding surf of assemblies, the low ebb of the tide during holidays... and, of course, the constant threat of a tsunami. "The Coast is Clear" is a phrase that has become synonymous with "It's Safe". At Seaside High School, we knew it was safe to be confident, carefree, opinionated and adventurous. Whatever we were doing in our classes, clubs, sports and extracurricular activities, or with our friends, we knew the coast was clear to strive toward our own personal success. As we looked toward the coast, we understood that we were free to become anything we wanted to be.

student life

Throughout the 2006-2007 school year SHS students participated in many different activities, some between friends and fellow teammates; some with siblings and co-workers. Even though we all had our busy, stressful days, it was clear that no matter how bad the day, how low the grade or how far the run, students involved in different activities still had time to talk and create friendships. It didn't matter if we were involved in drama, sports, or an outside job, we realized that the coast was clear to have fun, while we managed to maintain our grades, even if that meant staying up into the wee hours! Along the way, we discovered that student life was easier when we had one another.

Right: Chilling with their buddies. Henry Broderick, Jason Spear, Bren Bletscher, Lujac Desautel, Ryan Sparks, and Cole Willyard clown around.

Below Top: Friends reunite as school starts. Arielle Schroeder, Shelbee North, and Desirai Schehl catch up on lost time.

Below Middle: Club Glub! Ben Hayes is scubadiving in Hawaii during the summer.

summer & fall

let the sun shine

Summer was a time for staying up late, hanging with friends, and sleeping in. It was a time for laughter, celebration, working, new friends, and summer camps. The warm days were spent playing on the beach and after a long day of surfing we would heat up with a bonfire on the beach. We would always remember the good times and the not so good times, like when September rolled around and we had to say goodbye to all those leisurely days. Fall was here, school was starting, and almost everyone was groaning. But, when we got back into the swing of things, we realized how much we missed school and all its activities. Amazingly enough, we even missed sitting in class and learning a few new things, and we all knew that the teachers missed us too. Our summer was beautiful and so was fall, what happened to it all?

and the leaves fall

Friends forever at Wild Horse Canyon.

Fun in the sun! Josie Ricketts, Brittney Cave, Emma Sawrey, Melissa Kennedy, Bruce Finucane, Travis Podoll, and Selah Meyer take a break on their way to Mexico for a mission trip with their youth group.

Fall colors surround us! Courtney Cooper, Joan Maier, Allison Preston and Katrina Hovden fool around by the fall foliage.

spirit week

competition

Whether we looked down the hall to see people dressing up like Julius Caesar, or we heard the yell contest a mile away from the school, it was pretty obvious that the 2007 Homecoming Week was one that would go down in Seaside High School history. Throughout the week students were constantly participating in all of the activities there were to offer. The scores were very close the whole week, and it was anybody's game everyday. In the end, the Seniors took the win, followed very closely by the Freshmen, then Juniors, and last, but not least, the Sophomores. Not that the scores mattered. A lot of the competition was just plain fun, proving to other classes that our class was the most powerful class in the school. It was clear that the glory, when we were walking back to class after the competitions, was what really mattered to us.

crazy kooky

homecoming

October 28, 2006

The 2006 Seaside homecoming will be remembered for years. It had the most recent music, the latest fashions, and the best of friends. The theme, Moonlit Lounge, inspired students to dress up and spend a night partying with friends. With group photos, slow dances, and the infamous macarena, students had little time to lounge around. When the Cha Cha Slide came on we rushed to the dance floor and did our thing. Even though we thought it was lame, we all lined up for the conga and paraded around the dance floor. We all crowded around to watch the dance off and cheered for our homecoming court. All the Seaside High School students, from the football and soccer players, to the drama and band participants, shared a sense of school spirit around this year's homecoming. We came to dance, and dance we did, all night long.

Show those pearly whites! Princess Camila Montti, Elaine Kloss, Rachael Mendick, Ceara Lewis, Ashley Mayfield, Jackson Meyer, Will Corwin, and Erik Johansson take a moment to save a memory.

Ben Meyer and Jackie Cartwright are clearly having a blast on the dance floor.

Seaside High school students know how to party! Shown left, they are rockin' to the music.

Moonlit Lounge

Hey Girlfriend! Sintia Santiago and Alma Navarrette are all dressed up and looking good!

Young Love. Patrick Palmeri and Jennifer Kaplan spend a few minutes in each other's arms.

Aww, they even match! Dalton Clark and Margaret Hinsvark sit at the rose covered tables, just relaxing.

in & out of school and everywhere

During this school year Seaside students spent over 1,000 hours in class. That's over 45 full days! That didn't even include sports, plays, clubs, and heaven forbid, T-school. And, while most of us would have liked to look back and say, "What a waste of time," we couldn't help but remember at least a few of the good ol' times. In the past nine months SHS students had been in, out, around, up, down, and everywhere in between this school. We knew this place better than anyone, and we were proud to say it was ours. Time went by, and before we knew it the school year was over. We said good-bye to our friends, some of whom we might never see again, some who we would see the very next day, and left through those doors for a final time. One thing we knew for certain, SHS would remain clearly in our memories forever.

here there

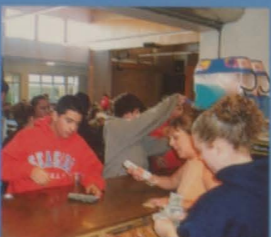

Rock on! Nolan Hanrahan waits outside after a long day of school.

There is not enough time in a day for Eileen Lamontagne.

There's no time like break time!

Keeping it cool in the pool, Simon-Peter Brown keeps a vigilant eye during a busy open swim at the Seaside Swimming Pool.

Is it a bird? Is it a plane? It's a group of SHS kids after a quick dip in the winter ocean.

Give us a smile! Na Na Pease, Brittany Newton, Audrey Lewis, Elliott Hearing, Cole Schwarz, and Xandra Jobe clown around before play practice.

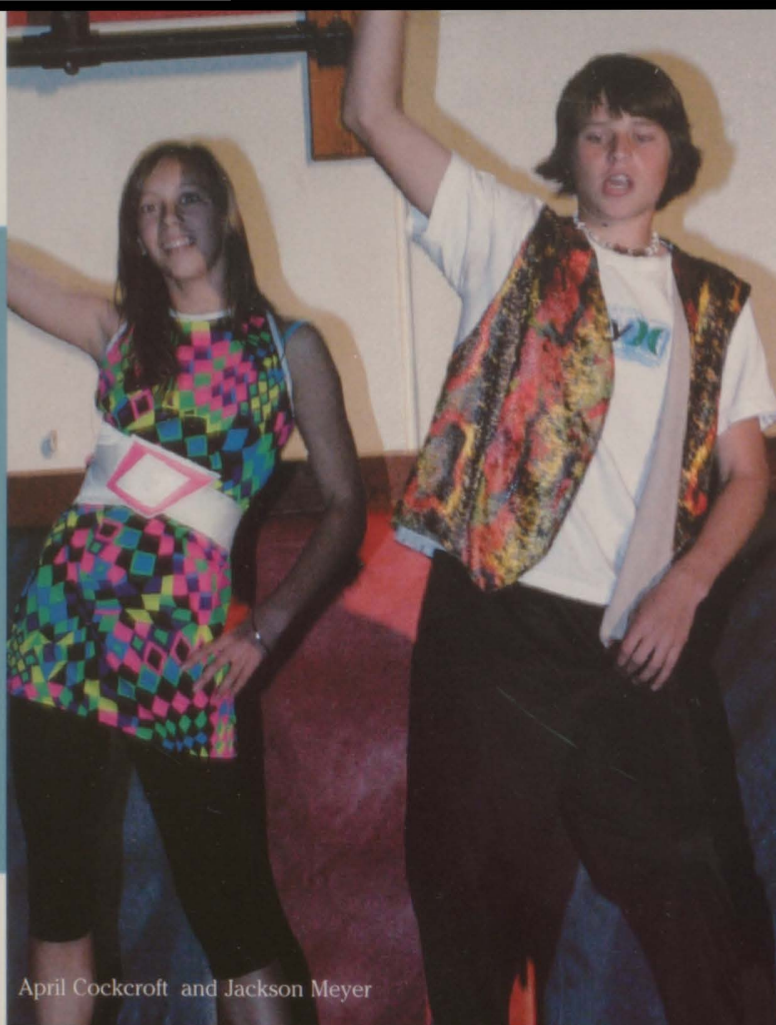

Just catching some rays. Abbie Huddleston, Hannah Sigler, Megan Potter, Ashley Nice-Roberts, Elie Wiese, Bri Hostetler, Ashley Stinnett, Jamie Osburn, Alix Richardson, and Fawn Rhodes know the hot spot to eat lunch.

Below: Time to get to class! Students fight the harsh traffic in the halls.

Whether seniors, juniors, sophomores or freshmen, Seaside High School students were always unique, lively, and well, let's be clear, downright spirited and interesting. From making a statement with friends, to going out of one's way to create a superb presentation for that favorite teacher, to enjoying a little friendly competition between each of the four classes, SHS students could be depended on to make the best out of life. Clearly, they were kids who wanted to connect, who wanted to have fun, who wanted to make the most out of many a school situation. They were people in the making!

Seaside High School Unity! SHS ASB

Associated Student Body had a diverse group of students working together, and proved to be a wonderful collaboration. It was a successful year, and they tried new ways to help our school unite as a whole. They had fun with their adviser, Mr. Corliss, played with assembly props, and dressed up in front of the school. At the end of the year they were joined by a special bond and became an ASB family. It was an experience none of them would ever forget.

CC TRIP

Having fun

This year the Cross Country team took a trip to San Diego. The team stayed in a youth hostel and met new people from different walks of life. They ran a race at Dana Hills High School and enjoyed a pool party with the local students afterwards. While there, they also went to the San Diego Zoo, the Natural History Museum, and kayaking. This San Diego trip was the highlight of the season for many, and a memory the team would not soon forget.

When one asked us if the coast was clear, how could we answer? For the students at Seaside High, this rather inconspicuous phrase meant more than just a quick reply. During this year at SHS, the coast was clear for students to be active in whatever their hearts desired. Whether they shined on stage in the fall play or showcased leadership in ASB, students realized they could be whoever they wanted to be. As the stress of the year wore on, activities such as surfing or going to school dances kept students sane, and made that distant goal of being free from school that much closer. One way or another, students discovered that working hard and getting involved meant the coast was already clear to make the most of their talent and potential.

DEADLY ERNEST

A good-natured comedy!

Poor Henry Gilcrest! Everything went wrong for Henry. His boss fired him, his girlfriend dumped him, his aunt kicked him out of the house. Things were looking down for him, but then he met Mr. Bumpus in the park, who knew someone who could put Henry out of his misery. Ernest was his name. Miraculously, Henry got his job back, his girlfriend back and his aunt let him stay. Everything seemed to be in order except for the fact that some person named Ernest was planning on "exterminating" him. Humorously, it seems that every person that walked into his life that day seemed to be named Ernest.

1. How do you do? Donovan Gregory and Elliott Hearing share a cordial handshake.
2. "Have some fudge!" Ann Branson and Melissa Kennedy explain the real way to a man's heart.
3. How Cute! Emily Smith does an exceptional job portraying the dramatic, love-struck dame.
4. "How about those aardvark anteaters?" Valeena Hearing plays a strict, yet secretly soft aunt.

SNOBALL

Time Warp

The 2007 Snoball dance was filled with an assortment of famous stars and cute couples. The theme was Time Warp and we danced through the ages all night long. The variety of costumes was amazing from go-go dancers to flappers. Some people went as couples from Marilyn Monroe and James Dean to a stunning 30's couple. Everywhere you looked people were in their finest costume attire. Our court took center stage with their court dance and Queen Kaylin and King Anders were definitely the life of the party. Overall, the Key Club did a wonderful job, and the decorations were top notch! This was truly the Snoball to remember.

GIRLS AND BOYS STATE

Governmental Process

What are Girls and Boys State, you ask? Good question; they're annual government camps that include a mock senate discussion. Candidates from all over Oregon participated and interacted as real members of Congress would, passing bills and making many decisions for the benefit of their state. Participants also had the chance to make new friends and learn about themselves, growing as informed people. Seaside High School sent several representatives, including: Tessa Pfund, Natalie Orr, Ann Branson, Ellen Cochran, and Patricia Doyle to Girls State, which took place in Salem. Anders Benson and Mark Thysell attended Boys State in Eugene, at the University of Oregon. Mark Thysell was selected to represent Oregon as a senator in Washington D.C. at Boys Nation.

a trip to the NEW Big Easy

ORLEANS

This Spring Break, while many people were out to party, nine Seaside locals, including two SHS students and two teachers, devoted ten days of their time to assisting in the reconstruction of New Orleans. Also, while there they completely removed all appliances, sheetrock, and insulation from two houses and painted one house so that some families could move back into their homes. While in New Orleans the group of nine saw sights, visited a plantation, and experienced Southern hospitality.

WEATHER WAS THE WORD!

THE YEAR OF EXTREME WEATHER

Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow. And it did! This year we had more snow than we knew what to do with. Right here on the coast it snowed several inches, more than it had in a VERY long time. We also got an extra winter vacation due to the snow, allowing us plenty of time to play, lounge, and drink hot cocoa. Many people were no doubt confused as they woke up that Thursday morning to find the ground, and pretty much everything, blanketed by the cold, white stuff. The confusion soon turned to excitement at the prospect of school being canceled and a full day of play ahead of us. Ms. Edy remembered when it snowed this much back in her junior year of high school in 1969. Since then our coast was left snowless and bare in the winter time, forcing us to go up to Saddle Mountain for sledding or to Mount Hood for skiing and snowboarding. We were glad the snow came, and wished it stayed longer. But, as they say, all good things come to an end and that would not keep us from wishing next year would bring us another dazzling, white wonderland to enjoy and appreciate.

cowboy ELKO poetry TRIP

The Cowboy Poetry Trip to Elko, Nevada was an interesting and educational experience for all of its travelers. Spending days on trains brought students closer together and staying with host families was a growing experience for all. Students stayed at the beautiful Yamsi Ranch, which had incredible and breathtaking views. The world was covered in snow for their exhilarating hike. There was much inspiration derived from the trip, and all came out with mass amounts of new knowledge. While on the trip many new friends and acquaintances were made. Each student came away with a feeling of personal fulfillment gained through exposure to various forms of art and everyone made a contribution to the trip in a positive way. Overall, the Elko Trip was not only memorable, but great fun too!

ALOHA tropical trip HAWAII

While most students stayed in Seaside for Spring Break, a group of eight adventured to the Aloha state of Hawaii. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson took an eager group of Marine Biology students to Kona, Waimea, and Hilo, Hawaii for 10 days. Students explored many aspects of marine life and also went scuba diving. While their main focus was observing sea life, the group took time to relax and enjoy Hawaii's incredible environment, atmosphere and people. The trip was fun, educational, and a great success.

clubs & classes

From Key Club to Tech Club to G.S.A., there was a club for everyone. Key Club members continued their involvement in community service projects and also planned the winter Snoball dance. Tech Club was able to use their awesome gaming skills to battle against each other and Mr. Brown. The Gay-Straight Alliance met and continued to work toward their goals of creating equality and awareness. If you couldn't find a club, chances were you would have found an interesting class. The yearbook staff was able to preserve the year for our enjoyment. Mrs. Wickersham took on her third year of Pro Culinary Arts. Students were able to watch chefs from all over the state and cater several events. Mr. Mizell's Words and Music class was new, and students studied the lyrics and meanings behind their favorite songs. No matter who you were or what you loved, Seaside High School could certainly find a class or club for you.

LEADERSHIP

Working to be Proactive Not Reactive

This year in Leadership students had a great time managing the blood drive. They got out of classes to give moral support to their donors. They supported sports teams by making posters for their lockers. Mr. Dierickx took charge this year and taught students how to be highly effective teens. They had amazing discussions and presented some entertaining finals. All in all, Leadership participants had an exciting, productive year. Most importantly understood was Habit #1: Be Proactive, Not Reactive.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Seaside High School is clearly a school that cares about academics, and National Honor Society showcased just how hard students worked to excel. But contrary to popular belief, members were much more than a few smart cookies. They eagerly participated in candy cane fundraising, bought Christmas presents for children, and volunteered at various civic events. With much determination to create a better school, community and world it was easy to see why National Honor Society members were successful.

The Culinary Class did an outstanding job in its third year of operation. The competitive Culinary Team went to a competition in Warrenton, where they placed nineteenth out of thirty teams, a job well done. In the time they spent together, SHS students were able to form special bonds with one another, which helped to make them all the more competitive. Students created dishes for the Clatsop Community College Leadership Conference and also for our teachers when they had meetings and inservice. They made amazing dishes with different spices and explored various types of food preparation. At the end of the year each participant came away a better cook and with culinary career related options for the future.

Wow! Mr. LeHigh really knew how to teach the young artists at SHS. He demonstrated various art techniques and let the students explore art in a fun and enjoyable way. Works of art were displayed around the school where they served as great decorations and examples. Because there were no boundaries in art the possibilities were endless. The results were amazing with SHS students sweeping the competition at the 2nd annual Clatsop Community College Juried Art Show. hear down

CHAMBER CHOIR

What a choir it was. The Chamber Choir consisted of 37 students who had to audition in front of their favorite guy, Phil White. They had a wide range of songs, from Russian ballads to Christmas favorites. The ringing of clear, beautiful voices could be heard down the hall when class was in session and, with the quantity of students we had, it was often loud. At the end of the year, all of the choir voices had matured and grown. As Mr. White would say, "Oh, my little garden of choir happiness." We will surely hear more of these minstrels in the future years.

JAZZ CHOIR

Goodnight
Sweetheart...

The Jazz Choir of 2006-2007 proved to be a choir much remembered. In the beginning, Jazz Choir students were automatically chosen to sing the National Anthem at another Trailblazer's game because their fantastic singing had helped them to qualify the previous year. Vocalists worked hard to sing at school games, concerts, Christmas caroling, and many other activities. Getting to school at seven for their early bird class, day after day, had its payoffs, though for some it was hard to believe! For these kids, music really did make the world go 'round!

1. Such beautiful music. The Jazz Choir blends their harmonious voices.
2. Merry Christmas!! Mr. White shows some Christmas cheer.
3. The Jazz Choir takes a break from singing at the hospital.
4. Such a serious music scholar. Tim Gunn studies his music calmly.
5. A happy bunch! Even at 7:00 am the Jazz Choir is all smiles.
6. Santa Claus is coming to town! Havana Gardner and Amanda Cochran sing at the hospital.

and a CONCERT 1...2...3...4.. BAND

The 2007 Concert Band did an awesome job this year. They were also always at games and special events to support their school by pepping them up. Some musicians received great honors. With Mr. Dahlgren conducting these young adults, it helped them broaden their musical horizons. With each student bringing their style and flair to musical performances listening to the concerts became very enjoyable. We obviously couldn't capture their sound in pictures but, in our words, these kids sounded great in every way.

Jazz

The 2007 Jazz Band was composed of an incredible group of musicians. They were so sincerely dedicated to their instruments they would meet at 7:15 am in the morning everyday for four days a week. Their music and skill showed how hard they had worked. They played amazing tunes and they improved tremendously as well. This year there were a lot of youngsters in the group and the veterans helped to teach them much they would need to know for the years to come. Overall, this year was a stupendous achievement.

1. Casey Pappas, along with Bren Bletscher and Allison Barker, play some cool tunes.
2. Tooty-toot-toot! Jason Brock is serious about his music.

Seaside High School made a large impact on our Key Club community this year. Not only did we have the largest group ever, but Mark Thysell was elected Lieutenant Governor of our state. We worked with the various elementary school students, and decorated around town for the holidays. With the Snoball dance and Christmas Trees for the Kiwanis it was a sure statement that Key Club was appreciated throughout the area. Even though it is made up of high school students, Key Club does make a difference.

The smell of the sawdust, the whir of the lathe, the feel of the wood were all cohesive parts of Mr. Smith's Woods class. The Seaside High School shop class affectionately named themselves the shop rats, a bit like the athletes in the gym. They were the students who would spend every period there if they could. They formed great friendships and created amazing things. They made the classic footstool and the artistic light hangings. From bread-boxes to guitars, the 06-07 Woods class really knew their stuff.

SEABREEZE YEARBOOK*

As yearbook students sold ads this past year, organized every page, and then painstakingly proofed every single one, the staff became more like a family. During their annual field trip to Funland & Fultano's, they not only had a fantastic time playing games and eating pizza, but bonded together as well. It was at times like these, after many hours of work, that they began to come together as a whole. Only then was the staff able to create a yearbook that their peers could continue to read and enjoy for the rest of their lives. For years in the past, and many surely to come, the Seabreeze staff has worked to capture the memories of Seaside High School which will not be forgotten.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Another year and another set of exchange students. This year two SHS juniors, Stephanie Hinsvark and Sarah Burgess, left the country to experience life as an exchange student in another country. Stephanie traveled to Japan and Sarah to Chile. In reciprocal exchange for sending two of our students out, we received Camilla Montii, a groovy Chilean who studied English and made new friends at good old Seaside High! Let's get TECH technical CLUB

In those days when you realized that you were only halfway done with the week, you were bored at lunch, and you wanted to take apart a microwave, where could you go? The answer was Tech Club, the fun way to get your brain itching. The Tech Club consisted of about 15 people who were fascinated with the functions of electrical devices and how they worked. And, of course, who didn't want to play video games? Tech Club was led by none other than Mr. Brown. The club had fun staying after school and working together to work on their technical skills.

RUBE

Ready,

GOLDBERG RUBE!

Rube Goldberg was set in motion again this year under the watch and guidance of Mr. Brown. The project consisted of six groups of four or five students working together to succeed in one common goal; frosting and sprinkling a cupcake! The goal of the Rube Goldberg Machine Competition is to create a machine with a minimum of twelve steps to perform a simple task. As an added challenge, the teams must have a reoccurring theme throughout their machine and provide a simple and entertaining explanation of their elaborate creation. All the teams did well, thought hard, and creatively expressed their inner desires to frost, sprinkle, and eat a cupcake.

sports

Sports have always been important to the students and faculty of Seaside High School. This year it was clear to see that our sports teams showed their school spirit by working hard. The effort was incredible and most definitely, unbeatable. Athletes put their all into everything they did and they made it clear for all to see. Everyone was proud to be a fan of Seaside High School sports. There was great attendance at the games by our families and supportive friends. This year Seaside High School saw the addition of a new sport to its roster, the Pulse Dance Team. New or old, our sports teams gave it their all and did their best, on and off the field. The 2006 - 2007 sports season was clearly awesome and fun for all.

pulse pulse DANCE pulse pulse TEAM

This year marked the first ever dance team at Seaside High School. There were so many new things to do and decide. After months of contemplating, the dance team finally decided on the name "pulse." It was a great season full of surprises and wonderful memories. The girls danced at pep assemblies and at halftime during the boys and girls basketball games. When competitions came around, the dancers surprised everyone and qualified for state. State took place in the Chiles Center at the University of Portland. It was four days long and the team placed 12th out of 41 teams. We were all very proud of them and their achievements and we look forward to seeing what the coming years will bring for the SHS dancers.

During the 2006 football season our football players did an amazing job. They worked hard, played hard, and focused. With determination they stuck through thick and thin. They all had positive attitudes towards the other teams and it was definitely recognized by other teams and our traveling fans. Even though our team had to deal with four or more injuries to some of our starting players, the boys who could not play stuck with their team and went to all of the away games. Every day at lunch the teams would gather in the coach's rooms to look over game tapes and talk about their next plays. These dedicated players even watched game tapes on Sundays. All of their meetings and practices paid off with five wins. We started off strong and kept pulling through. All in all our football season was a success. Sadly, sixteen of our seniors would be leaving us this year. However, they will remain in our hearts and we won't soon forget them.

The SHS Cross Country team had a blast during the 2006-2007 season. There was a lot of new blood in the team this year, and the runners improved their running ability while bringing some new spice into the team. But, sadly, we had to say goodbye to seven seniors this year. Most of the seniors on the team ran in Cross Country all four years of their High School career. These seven runners added a very positive atmosphere to the group, going all out to put the T in Team! The team attended many different meets this year that they hadn't in the past. The team took a week long trip to San Diego and attended an invitational at Dana Hills High in Orange County. The coach, Mr. Branson, takes the team on an annual week long trip to attend meets and participate in various activities. Thanks Mr. B! The district meet this year was a close call for the girls team. They fell one point away from being able to take the whole team to state. Instead, they sent three girls, Ashley Mayfield, Elaine Kloss, and Rachael Mendick. The boys team sent only one boy to the state meet, Thomas Benson. The whole SHS team ran their hearts out this year and showed school spirit through their running ability.

Volleyball, this year, was full of new experiences, new people, and new tactics. Mr. Ward replaced Mr. Boyd as the coach and employed new ways to practice and develop team friendships. The year began in August with several exciting volleyball camps to begin or restart training. The camp revealed that this was a year all about bonding and recognizing one another's strengths and weaknesses. Because most of last year's team consisted of seniors that had graduated, we had a young team that was still learning and practicing how to play volleyball. Although the varsity volleyball team had hardships this season, it was definitely a learning experience. Full of new faces and new coaching styles the varsity team worked through the hardships and still had a fun season which is what really mattered. Half way through the season the varsity volleyball girls went on a team bonding trip to Bend, Oregon for a fun-filled weekend vacation. The trip allowed the girls to see that winning the game wasn't always the point of being a part of sports at Seaside High but instead to compete and play well, and play well we did. Next year, although the present seniors will be missed, the newer players will move up in skill to take the throne, better than ever.

The 2006 Seaside Boys Soccer team was one of many great seasons. Our boys were very hardworking and they had a lot of drive in them. They pushed themselves so hard to reach their goal, which was going to state. They made it by defeating Tillamook 3 - 1 but unfortunately lost the first game in Ontario, against Ontario. They definitely showed how much they had improved. The Varsity returnees showed the newcomers how to be a part of a wonderful, caring team. New team members learned so much from them they knew they would be even better next year. All our boys formed an unbreakable bond. It was a relatively young team this year and both the experienced and inexperienced teammates grew and learned from each other. This year's seniors will be missed and the legend will live on.

This Year the 2006 Girls Soccer season was a ton of fun and exercise for Seaside High School's two very dedicated teams. The new players from the incoming freshmen contributed greatly to both Varsity and Junior Varsity teams. Practice was from August through November and was tough and filled with running that was dreaded by everyone. Overall, the speed and endurance that was built up became quite helpful throughout the soccer season. Every game, no matter what the score was, these girls were always excited to keep playing. There was a very special group of girls this year that bonded together well and made new friendships. The season allowed teammates to make wonderful, lasting memories out on the playing fields and on those long bus rides traveling to away games. Although Varsity didn't make it to state this year the girls still had a number of great games and close scores. Everyone played wonderfully and fought hard in the Cowapa League competitions. Fans were very supportive to the young soccer girls and always cheered for them, no matter what kind of weather there was and the support was greatly appreciated. The team will miss this year's seniors next season and all of their skill. Great job girls. You had an excellent season!

Endurance Strength WRESTLING TRAINING

The Wrestling season was awesome for Seaside High School athletes and their fans. They realized that wrestling was not just an after school activity, but that it took both mind and body to be a great competitor. The strain and willpower wrestling required to fight back was exhausting, but they made it through with help from their coach, Jeff Corliss. They bonded through their training and, overall, had a successful experience. The boys fought their way to the end, doing their best, but finally realized toward the closing of their season that the coast was clear to have a good time even when the stress of defeat was at hand.

Take it to the BOYS hoop BASKETBALL

The 2006-2007 Boys Basketball season was one of determination, learning, friendship, and plenty of hard work. The focus and drive of last year's young team definitely paid off, with the returning boys another year older and wiser, and a lot more playing time under their belts. Although their scores weren't perfect; their morale was high, their efforts were unmeasurable, and their bonds proved unbreakable. They stayed strong even when times were tough, and delivered to their many fans exactly what they wanted: plenty of excitement and Seagull power!

GIRLS

BASKETBALL

This year's Seaside High School Girls Basketball Team did a fantastic job. They did their best and impressed everyone going on to vie for state in Klamath Falls. Although varsity lost 5 seniors, the team didn't let it show. The girls performed just as well or even better than last year's team. With a victory over Astoria, everyone was excited and our enthusiasm grew! Though the AHS team fought hard we fought even harder and came out on top. Our shots were nothing but net and the crowd went wild. The seniors moving on will create a challenge for next year's team, but knowing the girls they will make the best of the situation. It was a great season and made everyone happy that they were a Seaside fan.

ALTERNATIVE SPORTS

Even though these sports fell outside of the organized school sports category and sometimes seemed overlooked, they were just as important to many students and deserved recognition for achievement in their own way. These sports included surfing, skateboarding, wakeboarding, horseback riding, snowboarding, and many others. While some students were in the gym or on the field these athletes chose to go out and find their niche, which was just as important.

A Kansas teenager racked up perfect scores on the ACT and SAT. Jakub Voboril of Wichita got a 36 on the ACT on his third try. He received his SAT results shortly after the perfect ACT score: a perfect score of 2400. He did check out test prep books, but his advice: "Pay attention in class."

Conservatives opposed the legalization plans, saying they amounted to "amnesty."

Concentration camp and incarceration records would be the first Nazi documents released under a plan to make millions of files stored in Germany accessible to Holocaust researchers. In December, three members of a climbing party perished on the 11,239-foot mountain when the group became separated. After 10 days, searchers recovered one of the bodies in a snow cave and called off their work as another winter storm approached the area. The other climbers were presumed dead.

The 2007 Boys Baseball season was a hallmark year; a year which emphasized the importance of working as a team. Sportsmanship, teamwork, and plays were outstanding throughout the season. Not only is the sport already known as a great American past time; these boys did their best to make it memorable for the Seaside Gulls. Their energy and commitment to grueling practices became apparent during games. The time they spent working to become a focused team resulted in stronger relationships. After placing 3rd in the Cowapa League, SHS hosted their first winning playoff game against Sweet Home and went on to play in a second round against the Henley Hornets.

FRENCH TRIP

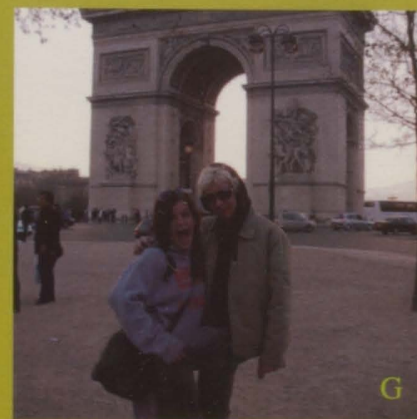

Bon voyage! This is what Mr. Broderick and 10 students said to America as they embarked on an eleven day trip to France and Switzerland during Spring Break. The students, all of whom are in the French class, marveled at such amazing sights as the Arc de Triomphe and the Eiffel Tower. They filled their bellies with delicious French cuisine, like ham baguettes, cheese fondue and glorious milk chocolate. All of the students truly enjoyed French culture, and are counting the days until they once again can say "Bonjour!" to Paris.

It is said to be hard, long, and difficult. So, why would students take this class? They take this class to learn more about their world and to truly understand topics that mean something to them. The class is a long journey toward the Model United Nations Conference, but to get there you must pass credentialing. The class concludes with a three day long conference in Eugene complete with committee sessions and a midnight curfew, topped off with lifelong friends.

BOYS GOLF Fore!

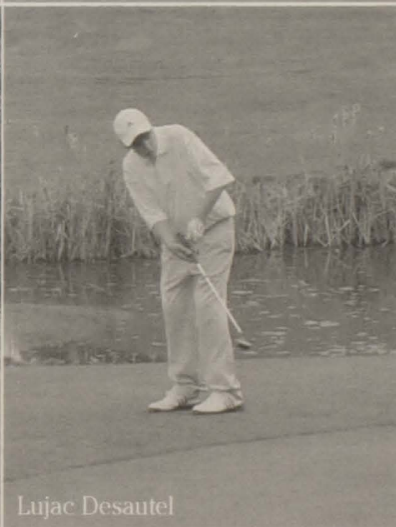

Spring has once again come and gone, and with it the 2007 Golf Season here at Seaside High School. Although the team was made up of almost completely new golfers there certainly wasn't anything amateur about these fine young men. They performed very impressively at all of their meets. Newcomer Devan Flukinger placed 2nd at Districts and earned the privilege of competing at the state tournament. The Boys Golf team also had the second highest accumulative Grade Point Average in 4A state, which was definitely par for the Seaside High School academic course!

What a crack up! Selah Meyer and Ross Knutsen crack some jokes.

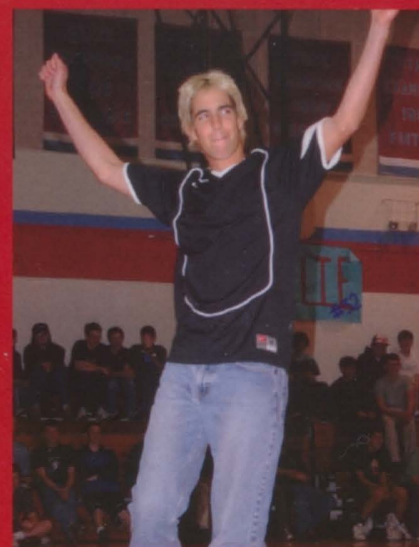

The 2007 Mr. SHS is...WILL BEATTY!

This year's Mr. SHS was a sight to see. For the second out of what we're sure will be many years to come, seven students represented their classes in the Mr. SHS pageant. The contestants competed in casual wear, swim wear, sleep wear, evening wear, talent, and had to answer onstage questions. They learned and performed a dance that had the crowd laughing. When it came time for the participants to show their talent they had the crowd in stitches. There were Star Wars, creamers, roller skates, piano, and many Capri Suns. The last event of the pageant was the relay. The two representatives from each class, with the exception of the freshmen, worked together to complete an obstacle course. In the end there was no real winner, just the crowning of Mr. SHS and the runner ups. Selah Meyer and Ross Knutsen did a great job at cracking jokes and keeping us all entertained. They spiced it up and put all the guys in the hot seat. Everyone knew that they were the REAL stars of the pageant. It sure was a sight to see!

It took a week to plan and it showed in everything. The amazing food consisted of tacos, quesadillas, burritos, nachos, and sopapillas. Also, there was an incredible assortment of yummy beverages. Faculty and students alike really appreciated all of the hard work that went into making Cinco de Mayo.

For the girls golf team, this was an exciting season. The efforts of both teammates and their coach were meritable. Each of the girls had a separate and positive experience. Rain or shine, the girls hit the fairway and had a wonderful time. They all had a magnificent experience on the team and the two seniors on the team will be greatly missed. The team went to the district competition and placed second overall. The girls were happy competing on the golf team and looked forward to getting out on the green again the following year.

SPRING FLING

Spring Fling, a Seaside High School activity brought back from years gone by, was something new for all of us this year. Spring Break Day was our introductory day, followed by Mardi Gras Day, a day where a number of students sported bright colors and beads. Midweek featured Wayne's World Day. Thursday was Beach Day with the sun actually making an appearance. Friday closed the week with the grand finale of Black and White Day and led up to the Oscars and Talent Show. All in all, it was a nice diversion, allowing us to imagine the wonderful days of summer ahead. Our 2nd spirit week was all about being retro. Anything from the past was a major hit.

BACCALAUREATE

The seniors walked down the aisles accompanied on the piano by Selah Meyer. With Kaylin Cooper and Brittney Rekate starting off the evening with a familiar childhood tune, "Chopsticks," on the piano, it was nothing but happy memories presented in song, pictures and inspirational words. Students and teachers joked about fun times they had in high school and managed to poke a little fun at Joe DeNotta, a.k.a. Fabio. It wasn't all about the past however. The class of 2007 was given advice about the future and congratulated for the many achievements it accomplished at Seaside High School.

PACIFICA PROJECTS

Below: These two are all about giving back. Ross Knutsen and Ben Christianson talk about putting on a baseball clinic for their Pacifica.

From Dog Walkers to Lunch Buddies and Hospital Helpers to Coming Home Alive, the class of 2007 was all over our community making their contributions. The 15th annual Pacifica Project Presentations started off with some thought provoking words from Mr. Boyd and Mr. Hawes. Then as everyone filed into different rooms at the Seaside Convention Center you could see nervous, anxious, terrified and excited faces in the seniors about to present. However, as they finished, there were only feelings of relief, pride, and also accomplishment that they had truly made a difference in our community.

DANCING UNDER THE STARS

Who can forget their senior prom? Certainly not this year's seniors, thanks to the junior class. This year's prom was a wonderful one, full of beautiful decorations, great music and the company of our fellow classmates. The theme of Dancing Under the Stars was displayed in everything from candles lighting the walkway to glittering stars on the tables. On top of the amazing decorations, Prom King Joey DeNotta and Prom Queen Tessa Pfund were crowned and shared an adorable dance. With getting down and being with friends, it's safe to say Prom 2007 was the perfect night.

BALL Easy!

The 2007 Softball season was one with tons of fun and lots of character. The team worked hard to compete against other Cowapa League teams, making the best of new coaches and new techniques. They had young players that dealt with tough cards but the more experienced girls helped to pull them through. Though it may not have been the most victorious season, it was, more importantly, very rewarding. With the season's end the girls all had one thing in common, the love of softball.

POPS CONCERT

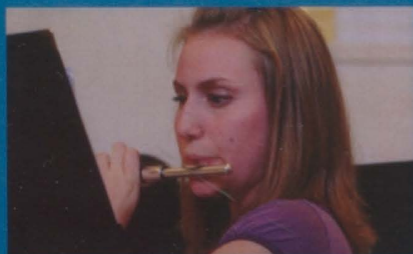

Every year the musical portion of our school gets together for one rocking evening of great music. Symphonic Band played an arrangement by Danny Elfman. The Experience Music class sang a song in French and added an awesome touch with African drums. Jazz Band featured a saxophone duet, and the choir wowed us with their vocals, song after song. Everyone who attended said the concert was by far the best concert of the year. It appealed to every person of every age. Next year the 2008 Pops Concert will have a lot to live up to!

KEITH REES

Our fellow classmate who touched so many lives

I wish I could write you something you would hear.
I wish I could write you something beautiful.
Something that would hold within it all of the things
I ever wanted to say.
Everything I needed to say to you, just for you.
But because I can't, I will write you something simple.
You were more complicated than you let on.
I wish I had the time to have understood you better.
You were stronger than I think you could have imagined.
I wish I could have seen how far you would have gone.
You were shy, but you broke out of your shell more Frequently than you let on.
You were free.
It was evident in the way you embraced life.
I can still hear you playing the bar.
You were so young, Keith.
I wish I could have seen you become a man.
A good one, I know.
You were greater than you knew, than we knew.
I wish...
But you are my friend
And I have our memories...
I only wish you were here to share them.

Let's make things perfectly clear.
From now on out, you are in charge.
You can choose to make something happen.
You can make a difference.
In many ways, your lives are just beginning.
It's a new chapter and a new road.
You can make the world a better place.
You have so many options.
What will you do?

Clearly, it's up to you.
